

Sustainability Policy

Over the course of its nearly 150-year history, CSAV team members have passionately worked to play a key role in international trade. These efforts have benefited society and improved people's quality of life, along with access to competitively priced consumer goods, economic development and reduced poverty.

We have adapted to dynamic contexts in order to continue to be an important market player, which has led to our role as co-controllers of one of the world's largest cargo transport operators through a shareholders' agreement with Kühne Maritime and HGV (which represents the interests of the city of Hamburg).

Through this Sustainability Policy, we seek to formalize our goal of playing a role in the sustainable development of global trade. We will seek to participate in spaces where we can help continuously improve this activity. This development involves economic variables, social wellbeing and the dissemination of more efficient and environmentally friendly practices.

We will continue to work with integrity and excellence to generate adequate returns for our investors, maintaining relationships based on transparency, providing reliable information on ESG and always exercising due diligence.

We want to expand our role in the industry, shedding light on the importance of challenges faced with key stakeholders and improving public opinion about foreign trade. We also seek to play a role in promoting the industry through dialogue and collaboration in order to improve the logistics chain and public policies, while promoting better environmental practices.

Similarly, we strive to strengthen the development of human capital in the sector, promoting specialization and growth. We are undertaking this effort with a commitment from our employees. We provide them with a work environment with high quality of life standards and opportunities to specialize and develop new skills.
